WALTON PLACES ANOTHER COUNTY UNDER ARMY RULE

RESIDENTS PETITION FOR PROTECTION FROM VIOLENCE.

LID CLAMPED ON General Public Tension Is Lessened, However, Since Capitol Incident.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Oklahoma City, Okla.—The iron hand of the military descended today on another county in Oklahoma, as warning was given by Governor J. C. Walton that more stringent martial rule is in store for other sections if "invisible government" in the state can be put down in no other way.

On the appeal of more than a score of residents of Sulphur, the governor late last night ordered military occupation of Murray county, where the civil authorities, some of whom are said to be controlled by

EDGERTON LAD BADLY HURT BY BIG TRUCK

BULLETIN

Edgerton.—Paul Ingelbrechtson, 22, is out on $300 bail for an appearance before Justice H. E. Hruska here, Oct. 5, for driving a car while intoxicated. He was arrested by Chief Ben Springer after the kind accident. Ingelbrechtson admitted, according to Chief Springer, that he had a bottle of moonshine previous to the accident. More serious charges may be brought if the Lund child dies.

Edgerton.—Charles Lund, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lund, East Walton street, was seriously injured here at 4 p. m. Thursday when struck by a loaded sand and gravel truck, owned by the Amundson company and driven by Paul Ingelbrechtson.

The child was knocked unconscious and taken to Memorial hospital. He had not regained consciousness Friday morning and physicians held slight hope for his recovery.

The boy was playing near the Continental axle company, around some automobiles, when he was struck by the truck. He was knocked down by one of the headlights. The wheels did not pass over his body.

Princesses Seek Death in Pact to Foil Marriage Plans, Report

PRINCESS MAFALDA AND GIOVANNA

Paris.—The breath of scandal, never a respecter of persons, has seized the royal family of Italy.

European royalty is agitated at the current reports which are being discussed in all the cafes, palaces and households of Europe. Princess Mafalda, 21-year-old daughter of King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy, and her younger sister, Princess Giovanna, have been reported suffering from a mysterious malady.

Now gossip has it that the beautiful daughters of the ruling house of Italy are suffering not from disease but from the effects of an attempted double suicide.

That alone is sensational, but the reported cause of the royal suicide pact is the real cause of the consternation among the royal courts of Europe.

It is said that the dark-eyed Italian beauties decided by a death pact together was preferable to the proposed marriage of the Princess Mafalda to Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium and the consequent separation.

The sisters are said to be highly temperamental and inordinately fond of each other and from sources considered reliable it has been reported that they have vowed never to let marriage separate them.

MILITARY RULERS HOLDING DOWN LID IN GERMAN STATES

BULLETIN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Dresden.—A French official here is taking a stand against the government's capitulation and is being evened out in some quarters.

The idea is gaining ground among French functionaries that opinion in the German population of the occupied area is beginning to swing vigorously against the government's capitulation.

It is even feared in some quarters that German opinion is likely to crystallize into a definite movement to ignore Chancellor Stresemann's orders and try to continue the fight without Berlin's help.

Berlin.—With both the Central and Bavarian governments co-operating for the maintenance of order in Bavaria, advances from Munich say the possibility of an outbreak by extremist forces is regarded as remote.

A body of troops, believed to be large enough to cope with any situation, has been assembled at Munich.

The appointment of Dr. von Kaahr to a dictatorship was decided upon by Premier von Krieger's government as a precautionary measure.

INSPECTION OF SAXE THEATER HELD INADEQUATE

COCHRANE INQUEST IS OPENED WITH VOLUME OF TESTIMONY.

QUIZ SLIGHTAM Acting City Building Inspector on Stand Long Time—Workmen Describe Collapse.

BULLETIN
Martin Tulgren, Milwaukee, of the Tulgren firm of architects, which designed the Saxe theater, took the stand at the opening of the afternoon session of the Cochran inquest. In response to questions, he said he had not determined the reason why the theater fell, that a building designed by him was this should have stood.

Insufficient inspection of the Saxe theater building, which collapsed Sept. 18, resulting in the death of Claude B. Cochran, plumbing contractor, and injury to several workmen, was evident from the testimony before the coroner's jury called by Lynne Whaley during the inquest held in the municipal court here Friday.

The bulk of the testimony Friday pertained to the crash of the roof and walls of the building, until the afternoon, when the engineers and building experts took the stand. There was a marked tendency of the various parties concerned to "get out from under" any responsibility.

There is a spirited issue as to why there was no more inspection of the building and the final approving of the plans and specifications.

4 Attorneys Appeared.
Appearing at the hearing were District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie; W. H. Dougherty, appearing for the Cochran estate; Roger G. Cunningham, attorney for the Tulgrens; Martin Tulgren and Sons Co., Milwaukee; Playmont J. E. Wood, representing the Saxe theater building; and one witness by the name of M. M. Wilcox.

Material evidence on engineering matters was not introduced during the afternoon session. Until the testimony of George Slightam, plumbing inspector, there was but introductory testimony.

Workmen Describe Collapse
It was established through the evidence of the workmen that the roof of the building was expected during the afternoon session. Until the testimony of George Slightam, plumbing inspector, there was but introductory testimony.

It was established through the evidence of the workmen that the roof of the building was expected during the afternoon session. Until the testimony of George Slightam, plumbing inspector, there was but introductory testimony.

Workmen who were engaged at the south end of the building near where the stage was being erected had time to run from that end to the main entrance to the north, indicating that the roof did not drop at once.

Slightam Testimony Important.
The most important testimony during the morning was from George Slightam. He testified that no application for permit to move the building was started. Slightam further contended that he was not consulted or officially informed that the building was under construction.

Rumor Turk Republic Is Proclaimed

—but "knew from general talk that a theater building was being erected."

When the foundation was being built it developed Slightam had gone to T. S. Willis, building contractor, and Joseph Brady, construction foreman, and urged that an additional section be covered by two additional men to comply with the provisions of the municipal building code.

"This suggestion was carried out," testified Slightam. Later, Slightam was questioned by the building inspector as follows: "You wanted the change on the foundation to comply with the fire regulations of Janesville and not as a matter of safety."

"That is right—yes," answered Slightam.

Sought Commission's O. K.
Slightam then testified that he did not consider himself competent or justified to pass on or approve the plans, specifications or construction work on the theater.

"I wanted proper inspection of the building and knew I could not give it," Slightam testified. "On May 23 I went to Madison at the request of Mr. Willis and conferred with the fieldman of the state building board, W. C. Muehlstein and E. W. Wood, who were present. I saw a set of the proposed plans but did not inspect them."

"Who approved those plans?" questioned Attorney Dougherty.

"I won't say," Slightam was stumped by the question. The witness said that he could not be responsible for the inspections. He realized they only had one fieldman. I understood them to be the best they could."

Understood State to Inspect.
"Were the state men to inspect the building?" Was that your understanding?" questioned the district attorney.

"Yes—that's the way I understood it," replied Slightam.

"Callen came down in June, 1922, with about 15th or 16th costumed by inspections. At that time the side walls were up. I don't think the trusses were in place. I don't think the roof was on."

"Did Callen and fault with the building at that time?"

"Not that I know about," answered Slightam.

Callen in Two Inspections.
Letters that were sent out by the state department to the architect, contractor and to Slightam were said to deal with the construction of the boiler room and building parts that were concerned with the question of being fireproof.

One of the letters again during the "last of August," according to the witness when the plasterers were working and ceiling partly on.

"I don't know," Slightam said. "I don't know if I inspected the building. Callen had some talk with Brady. I think regarding the entrance at that time."

"Did Callen appear to be satisfied with the building?" questioned the attorney.

"As far as I know, he was," was the answer.

Was Watching Building.
Slightam testified that he had been at the Saxe theater many times after this August inspection by Callen, but was watching the construction work as far as the building was concerned.

City Code Rectified.
The new building code of Janesville was introduced by Section 4 dealing with "Theaters and Places of Public Amusement" reads as follows: "Every opera house, theater, moving picture house, or other building intended to be used for theatrical or operatic purposes or for public resort or entertainment shall be built according to the state building code."

It developed that plans or specifications had not been checked over in Janesville and that no approved plans were left on file with the city.

KUFAHL IN JAIL AT ELKHORN AFTER LONG QUESTIONING

FRIEND OF MRS. SCHAUDA APPEARS VOLUNTARILY FROM MINNESOTA.

PRESENCE SECRET Poison Woman's Hearing Will Be Conducted Next Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Elkhorn.—After a 12-hour examination Thursday night in District Attorney Alfred Godfrey's office, Ernest Kufahl, 30, son of Ferdinand Kufahl, Waterman, and recently of Lone Star Settlement, Atkinson county, Minn., was taken into custody and spent the rest of the night in the jail, where he was held throughout Friday.

District Attorney Godfrey announced Friday that Kufahl was being held for further questioning and that some evidence of a body of evidence would be secured today.

Presence Unknown.
His presence unknown to Mrs. Myrtle Schauda, Kufahl's wife, and to her mother, Mrs. Schauda, who had no visitors. Kufahl is the man, one theory says, to gain whose father the Whitewater woman accepted to dispose of her four children.

Kufahl's arrival in the county seat Thursday quickened interest in the case. He drove from Minneapolis in the afternoon of the night of the crash, where he only a few weeks ago had visited the Minnesota settlement where he was making preparations to receive her sister, Mrs. Schauda.

Deputy Sheriff Will Gracik, who left Wednesday night for McGrath, was ordered to return home.

Deceit to Elkhorn.
Kufahl drove here from the home of his parents at Watertown, and Thursday afternoon and night was closeted with Mr. Godfrey in the latter's office. What was learned by the local prosecutor has not been divulged.

It is believed his entire relations with Mrs. Schauda, from the time he came to the settlement in September, 1921, and became a boarder at the Schauda home, until the present time, was a deception.

The sole fact in the case which has remained a mystery since Mrs. Schauda's confession to murdering her husband and attempting to kill her four children, made 26 hours after the last deed, is the woman's motive.

It is held possible she did not have one, and that she is a case which offers a study for psychologists and mental experts.

Next Wednesday, will have a hearing, continued to improve, Sheriff Hal Wylie reported Friday.

Present indications are that some justice other than Justice Charles Lyons will preside at the hearing next Wednesday, Charles Williams, White water, who heard the testimony at the preliminary hearing into the Carl Fritz murder and ordered Adolph Beckman held, probably will sit.

"At 2 p. m. the warrant for Kufahl had been issued. District Attorney Godfrey being busy with other work, asked concerning a report that aliens would examine Mrs. Schauda, he said: "Well, somebody is trying to outguess us."

WYOMING TOWN IS INUNDATED BY TORRENTIAL RAINS

ONLY TWO FIRES IN CITY IN TWO WEEKS

Whether the arrival of the city manager has anything to do with it or not, Chief C. J. Murphy doesn't know but the fact remains that there have been only two fires in the city since the new manager's arrival, and he has been in the city just two weeks. One fire was in the Troy Steam Laundry, the day of the Saxe theater crash, and the other was a week ago Thursday, when the Jefferson school was struck by lightning. There has been one call for the fire department in the last two weeks and one for aid in the country.

Passengers Die Penned in Cars at River Bottom

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Casper, Wyo.—Between 40 and 50 persons perished in the wreck of Burlington passenger train number 30 last night. It was estimated today, on reports from private and official sources. Out of 32 Pullman passengers, 28 are known to be safe. Four Pullman passengers and 13 smoker and day coach passengers and the train crew of five were missing.

Death and Horror as Train Is Plunged into Roaring Torrent

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Casper, Wyo.—At least 70 persons are believed to have lost their lives, and more than a score of others suffered injuries, some of them serious, when Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train number 30 plunged through a bridge 14 miles east of Casper last night into Cole creek.

The wreck occurred at an isolated spot near Lockett, and it was not until hours afterward that some of the details of the accident became known here.

The train plunged into Cole creek, swollen to many times its normal depth because of cloudbursts and heavy rains, and passengers were engulfed in the raging torrent that poured through the channel, with little or no chance of escape.

A wrecking crew sent from Casper found, arriving at the scene, that the work of attempting to rescue those caught in the crash was practically impossible during the night because of the darkness and flood conditions.

Five cars and the locomotive dropped into the river. An official message from the scene of the wreck last night told of the difficulties under which the rescuers were working and held out little hope for the many passengers known to have been in the coach and smoking car. The engine crew, the baggage and mail employees are also believed to have lost their lives, the engine and coaches being completely under water.

Seven doctors from Casper dressed the injuries of those cut by glass and sustaining bruises, but reported there was none dangerously injured.

The rescue of eight persons, including women and a baby, was one of the most spectacular features of the wreck. A rope was run from the passenger coach to the Glen Rock side of the creek and eight people made their way to the shore, by walking their way over the rope, hand-over-hand.

An unidentified man remained on the coach to the last ditch, where he rescued, and made the last trip by himself, carrying an infant with him.

Fears 100 Perish.
Dan J. McQuade of Denver, a passenger in the Denver sleeping car, was the first to give news of the disaster and he announced that in his opinion at least 100 lives were lost. Other survivors were of the same opinion, and the night Burlington dispatches here of the loss. McQuade's statement, said the loss "would be at least that."

Several men and women managed to crawl from the wrecked coaches, and one man, clinging to the top of the cars, screamed for help.

GOVERNORS MEET COOLIDGE, OCT. 20

Prohibition Enforcement Conference Will Be in White House.

Madison.—Governors of the states will meet with President Coolidge at Washington, D. C., on Saturday, Oct. 20 for a conference affecting prohibition enforcement. Miss C. Riley, secretary of the governor's conference, announced here today. The state executives plan to leave for the White House in a body after their annual conference to be held at West Baden Springs, Ind., Oct. 17 to 19.

President Coolidge yesterday, in a telegram to the governors' conference secretary, asked whether the executives would be able to complete their deliberations at West Baden Springs "so as to attend a conference at Washington on Saturday, Oct. 20."

Mr. Riley replied today that the conference would be able to meet with the president on Saturday afternoon.

While there was no announcement by President Coolidge of the object of his conference, it is taken for granted that prohibition enforcement will be the chief concern. There also is some indication that problems raised by the Ku Klux Klan may be discussed.

Governor A. Smith of New York, who signed the first bill respecting state prohibition enforcement law, has advised that he will be unable to attend the conference.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS BURNS 94% AIR

A raw oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% oil and 6% common kerosene.

The inventor, T. D. Johnson, 600 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. PEACH CANNING SEASON NEAR END

Peaches for canning will be gone within a few days and pears are taking their place in the market. The pear crop is scarce this year but the quality choice. They sell for $1.65 to $1.75 per bushel or 40¢ per dozen.

Grapes are fairly abundant and sell almost the same price as last year. Indications are that home grown grapes may be rather scarce this year. Concord grapes are now selling at 35¢ per basket. Malaga grapes are 12½¢ to 15¢ per pound and Tokay 20¢ to 25¢.

Prices on other fruits are as follows: Peaches, 25¢ per bushel, $2.00 per bushel; cherries, 15¢ per bushel; lemons, 45¢ dozen; oranges, 30¢ per dozen; tomatoes, 5¢ per pound; apples, all varieties, 5¢; bananas, 12¢ to 15¢.

Potatoes are now selling for 35¢ per pack, 10¢ higher than at this time last year.

The number of vegetables on the market is unusually large and includes late radishes, the last of this year's supply, in addition to several fall plants. Red peppers bring 7½¢ to 10¢ each and green are 2 for 5¢. Other vegetables are: Carrots, 7¢ per bunch; cauliflower, 30¢ per head; celery, 10¢ per bunch; cabbage, 20¢ per head; turnips, 7¢ per bunch; parsnips, 7½¢ to 10¢ per bunch; sweet potatoes, of which there is a large supply, 4¢; squash, 15¢ to 25¢; pumpkins, 15¢ to 25¢.

12 CENT GASOLINE EFFECTIVE HERE

Gasoline at 12 cents a gallon, the lowest price at which it has sold in Janesville for six or seven years, came about Friday when one filling station announced a four-cent reduction in the prices of both low and high test "gas."

The new prices at this station, effective at once, are: High test, 16 cents; low, 12 cents.

No other stations announced any price reductions Friday. Standard gasoline continues to retail at the filling stations here at 16.3 and 19.3 cents.

Illinois gasoline prices dropped several days ago.

The cut of one station in Janesville is the first change in prices here since the sensational, sweeping reductions throughout the middle west six weeks ago.

The principal products of Manchuria are beans, bean cake, and bean oil.

DEATH PLUNGE OF TRAIN INTO RIVER FATAL TO SCORES.

help, according to Henry Wyatt or Casper, who was a passenger in a Pullman car which plunged half way into the creek and remained standing on end.

"Nothing could be done to save them," Mr. Wyatt declared, "as the river was a raging torrent."

Car Topples Over.
"I had just started for my berth from the smoking compartment in the front end of the car when the wreck occurred. The train seemed to lurch and I fell overboard and then the car fell into the water. I was in the water for some time before I was rescued."

Result of Cloudburst.
"I appeared that a cloudburst had occurred recently, as the creek had receded two feet before I started back for Casper."

According to previous reports, the smoking car was crowded with men. The local ticket agent reported he had sold 66 tickets from Casper for this train, which was made up here and was bound for Denver.

An official railroad message from the scene of the wreck late last night was as follows:
"Sleeper standing on end" and Bank caved off and sleeper fell in stream. Now covered with water. One end of C. and S. chair car above water. Two passengers got out of this car. Coach and smoker, baggage and mail car under water. This was the chair car or the smoker. I do not know."

Water High and Swift.
"Water running so high and swift unable to work from east bank. Number of people on east side doing all they can to assist. Out of a total of 32 Pullman passengers, 23 have been accounted for. Pullman conductor thinks two others got away safely."

"Lost porter in head sleeper. Train conductor lost unless he got out on east side. Cannot say about engine crew. Undoubtedly considerable."

number of passengers in smoker and coaches lost.

"Doing all we can for relief of people in coaches and smoker. Unable to make more definite report until daylight. Details later. Will read back to the scene of the wreck. Driver outfit complete with material for 20 spans."

This message was received from the Burlington superintendent, who went to the scene of the wreck. Steady Rolling Country.
The scene of the wreck is about 14 miles east of Casper, about two miles west of the Big Muddy Oil field and about seven miles west of Glen Rock. The next flag stop for the train, across the culvert through which it plunged into Cole Creek, was Lookout.

The scene of the wreck is in a sandy, rolling type of country. Near the place, Cole Creek flows into the Platte river from the north. The river runs along the south side of the Burlington tracks for about a quarter of a mile. The Platte is barely a stone's throw from the railroad tracks. The river is about 100 feet wide at the place where the train plunged into the creek. The river is about 100 feet wide at the place where the train plunged into the creek.

The train left Casper at 3:35 p. m. Thursday. It was made up of a mail express and baggage car, two chairs and two Pullman sleepers.

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RAGING FLOOD TORRENT.
Casper, Wyo.—Burlington passenger train No. 30, bound for Denver, which plunged into Cole Creek early last night, went into a raging, torrent.

A roar of water over cars in the stream could be heard, for three miles. What ordinarily is a dry creek during the summer was suddenly swollen into a torrent by the heavy rains of yesterday.

A track walker had reported the culvert over Cole Creek less than an hour before the Burlington passenger train was due. He reported everything all right, though the stream was rising.

Car Swept Out.
About 9:30 p. m. the Denver train swept around a curve and plunged into the stream. Apparently the locomotive got clear across the culvert before it gave way under the weight of the heavy train. The car alighted, back into the water and both engineer and fireman were killed.

One passenger car, buried in the stream, was swept 100 yards out into the Platte river, Wyoming's largest stream. Platte river is more than a mile wide at a point near the wreck. Probably only four sleeping car passengers lost their lives by drowning. From 20 to 24 passengers were rescued from the top of a sleeper which was partially submerged in the stream.

Neither the Cheyenne nor Casper sleepers went into the stream.

Thrilling Rescue Scene.
A rescue train from Casper arrived at the scene of the wreck at 11 p. m. and immediately it was seen that the best chance of rescue was by means of a rope arrangement strung from the east bank. There were from 20 to 24 persons on top of the sleeper, all beginning to be rescued.

The most thrilling portion of the rescue scene then ensued. A big cable rope, obtained at the Big Muddy Oil field, was thrown over to the marooned sleeper. With the headlight of the locomotive of the relief train playing on the scene, the slow process of rescue in this manner proceeded. Men, women and children went hand over hand from the sleeper to the east bank, more than 150 feet. Several times women lost one hand hold of the rope, only to regain their balance and save themselves from dropping into the water.

Carries Baby to Shore.
After their perilous trip, several women fell into a dead faint and had to be carried to waiting cars. A man carried a baby in his arms from the marooned car to the bank and almost miraculously effected a rescue.

Of the injured brought to Casper early this morning, few are injured seriously.

It was still raining at the scene of the wreck early this morning. One sleeper was left on the track, where it had been derailed at the brink of the stream.

Aside from two film railroad arc lights, there was not a light visible at the scene of the wreck, and it was difficult to distinguish the location of the derailed cars in the stream or jammed up against the east bank.

Look for Floating Bodies.
The police in Glen Rock have been notified and will co-operate in preventing any robbing of the bodies. Glides down the Platte river have been notified to be on the look-out for floating bodies or bodies washed ashore.

It is believed that it will be 24 hours or more before many bodies can be taken from the submerged cars because of the high water. Most of those drowned may have been washed out of the cars because of the terrific current.

One of the lightest ticket sales in years was reported here by the Burlington and it is believed that the dead list of persons aboard the train will show not more than 70 missing.

Lloyd A. Jackson, an engineer, considers himself a lucky man today. Yesterday afternoon he refused to answer the call boy, stating that he did not want to take his regular run out of Casper because of the heavy rainfall and dangerous condition of the road bed. As a result, Eugene Spangler, not the regular engineer for this run, took out the Denver train. He is reported among the missing and it is believed that he was killed in the wreck when his locomotive plunged backwards into the stream.

The scene of disaster is an isolated spot on the Burlington, the nearest communication being three miles away.

"We have made a practice to require these plans to be filed and besides the state board had the plans," declared Slightam to questions on whether the Saxo representatives had complied with the full provisions of the ordinance.

Witcox takes issue. Then W. M. Witcox, of the Wisconsin industrial commission started questioning Slightam. It was an issue of whether the city or state board failed in the matter of inspection.

"Didn't you know that the plans of the Saxo theater had been held up because of insufficiencies," questioned Witcox.

"No," answered Slightam. "You understood that the industrial commission was not inspecting the building," demanded Witcox.

"No, I did not," answered Slightam. "You knew that the state commission did not have sufficient men to make such inspections all over the state, did you not?" questioned Witcox.

Slightam apparently misunderstood the question and answered he could not state as to their "efficiency." There were sharp questions as to whether two inspections of the building by Callon could be deemed "proper inspection."

Then Attorney Dougherty took the witness. "Did any official from the city of Janesville ever take steps to have a competent inspection of the building, or consult with you about it?" he asked.

"Not that I know anything about," replied Slightam.

"Did you satisfy yourself as to the cause of the collapse?" was the next question asked.

"I would not say—that is an engineering question," answered Slightam.

Workmen Not Afraid.

Every witness called to the stand was asked by District Attorney Dunwiddie if he had heard statements or talk that the building was not safe, sound and stable. Thus far, every witness answered in the negative.

"Since when have plasterers and laborers been called upon to testify as to an engineering matter?" demanded Attorney Dougherty. The district attorney answered that he wanted every witness to have a chance to tell "all he knew."

"I have heard considerable reports that workmen and others were afraid of the building, I want to find out if that is true," said Dunwiddie.

Keating First Witness

The first witness called was John Keating, who had the plastering contract. He was working with two other men on a scaffold and suffered slight injuries when caught by falling debris.

"I heard a roar in the south-west corner. I looked up and saw the ceiling at the south end falling. It hung down like a curtain and then came rushing towards me. I don't know how I got out, but I did," stated Keating.

"Was there anything about that building that aroused your suspicion?" questioned Dunwiddie.

"No sir," Keating replied. "This witness also testified as to the east wall falling outside of the auditorium. Every witness was questioned as to his knowledge of the pent house or top of the room but few had accurate information regarding this room."

Hill on Stand

William Hill, Western avenue, with his broken arm in a sling, told of seeing the roof start falling at the south-west corner and of being caught in the wreck.

Frank Burdick, Oak Hill, avenue, was working on the high scaffold near the stage and was knocked off the plank.

Ray Osborn, South Academy street, working with Keating, declared "the wall just dropped." William Warner, South Jackson street, laborer, was just going up a ladder near the south-west corner when he saw a piece of plaster fall. He ran almost the entire length of the building to escape.

When asked the question whether he heard any one say a word about the stability of the building, Warner replied, "No. I had full confidence in the building." At this time Attorney Dougherty wanted to know if the witnesses were passing on an engineering question.

Other Workmen Called

Joe Meyers, cement finisher, told of seeing the "ceiling give" and running out. This witness spoke of a plumbing ditch running along the east wall, north and south. Charles Ellis, South Main street, one of the first workmen on the job, also testified to being in the building when the crash came.

It was then Slightam took the stand and testified for more than an hour. He declared that the permit, issued not on a rented blank but on ordinary paper, was granted after the meeting in Madison.

"I was told at Madison it was all right to go ahead and issue the permit," stated Slightam. This meeting was in the building department of the Wisconsin industrial commission in the capitol annex.

"Did you check over the plans then?" he was asked.

"No," nothing was said about a check," said Slightam.

BIG CROWDS SEE AUTUMN FASHIONS

Reflecting all that fashion mentors have devised for autumn and winter wear, Janesville merchants made a gorgeous showing of new merchandise Thursday night when they unveiled their windows before the largest opening crowd in the history of this institution, for the ceremony of unveiling store windows as the inauguration to the season's opening is now truly an institution in Janesville. Adding much to the ceremony was the occasion was the splendid concert given by the High School band, a number being played in front of each store which contributed to the success of the venture.

Windows Are Rich. Every merchant who is taking part in the opening has done himself proud with background displays. Progressing from the thoroughfare, window shoppers proclaimed each window more beautiful than the other in settings. Expense has not been spared in producing beautiful effects that bring out the splendor of the merchandise exhibited.

Women's showings are, of course, paramount in any style review. All stores are showing the long silhouette lines, making much of the long waisted, long skirted dress. The new line of beaded trimming which enriches and enlivens the frock. Another effect of this store is a multi-colored brown crepe, broadened in fantastic King Tut designs, and a gorgeous varicolored sequins overdress.

For Every Occasion. Levy's Annex is displaying many satin gowns combined with over skirts of Spanish lace and astrakhan jackets. Gowns for every occasion are exploited in The Golden Eagle. Perhaps the most arresting to the eye of the shopper are the two evening gowns and the one saleable mode. One is of blue broadened in silver, caught to the side with a huge rhinestone buckle with a ruffle of material and the other of gold lace and Kelly green tulle, fantastic beaded designs, being wrought on the lace. This gown also has a fur trim. A quaint little daytime frock is offered in the Alice blue crepe, simply fashioned with puffings of the material and a bouquet of silk hand made flowers and lace for a trim. Another dress of small design is contrived in velvet bolero with plaid silk skirt made in tiers. Elaborate blouses are shown at the Golden Eagle, featuring georgette combinations with chenille and motifs of tassels or beads.

Quality Is Stressed. Simplicity is the keynote of the plan of quality and not quantity in their opening window. There are three window-pleasers. A luxurious wrap of squirrel, a white fur Jacquette with a monkey fur trim, and a black panne velvet gown combined with lace. This emphasizes the long waist line with black lace on the sides falling in panels below the skirt hem.

As always, the showing of J. M. Eastwick & Sons is a fashion show in itself. In the fur line this store is offering a squirrel coat and a white fur jacket and many neckpieces with lace. This store has a large circular fancy of ostrich at the side and the other an unique combination of orchid, coral, and almost orange georgette, merged together like a waning sunset. The dress is entirely headed in a bronze colored bead work.

Ensemble Cost. A smart gown is displayed in the combination of black satin with but a tiny side insert of fox fur, and another afternoon frock of black cotton crepe with all over embroidery of crystal beads. Two coats, entirely away from the usual line of wraps are to be seen in the window. One is of brown bolivia has several tiers of circular cut and is set off with a beaver collar. The other is fashioned straightlined, except just below the knees the center lounce is introduced. This coat is of black velvet, with flat collar. Striking blouses are displayed by this store, one unusual number, a silver gray heavy silk fabric with fantastic silver thread embroidery.

J. C. Penney company are showing a henna crepe of youthful lines set off with motifs of black and red. A black crepe with pleated beige georgette, front insert, is another offering of this store. Brook's have two beautiful sets of decorative materials with fur collars. One is in taupe and the other in deer shade. This shop shows a pretty black satin with narrow panels falling below the hem line. The frock is "dressed up" a bit by the insertion of short corn lace sleeves. Men to Be Dressed. With such splendor in women's clothes this season, the men wonder if he can afford to get anything new for himself. But on glancing at the models in the ladies' shop, he promptly changes his mind. Without reverting to the buckles and lace of Colonial times, man is to be decidedly dressy this season, according to the styles displayed by the Varsity, Amos Fieberg and Co., Damos Tailors, Ziegler Clothing company, and the Golden Eagle. Stripes and plaids make startling the once conservative attire of the man. Overcoats of baggy dimensions, in beautiful mixtures of colors, present a verging on the sports line. Suits are stressing the three and four buttoned coats and men's hats are rich in velours of grays and the brown shades.

room sets of comfortable colors are shown at Farnum's Ivory and light gray with conventional designs, for decorating, give these sets just the touch that entices the housekeeper. Two jewelry stores, Dewey and Bandt's and Bradley B. Conrad, and two music stores, Kuntz's and Nott's have joined in making the opening a success. The music stores have brought out the finest of their wares to adorn their windows as have the jewelry shops. Mr. Conrad is displaying a beautiful line of china from the Pickard studios, makers of rare English wares. Friday and Saturday openings are being continued with added attractions in the windows and beautiful displays within the stores.

The Revolt in Europe.
The pendulum is swinging in Europe, not back to the individual power of kings, but to the organized authority of the dictators who have behind them armies and navies. In a review of the rise of Benito Mussolini and Primo Rivera, Ralph Adams Cram, writing in the Boston Transcript calls it the "revolt against the politician." We have had a similar experience in the United States though it was confined to a circumscribed territory. Following the return of the seceded states and the elevation of the black man to positions of power by giving him full suffrage, we inaugurated a series of state governments which have never had their equal for the ignorant corruption in administration. Millions of dollars were spent and other millions of dollars of debts contracted by governors, and legislatures made up of ignorant negroes and avicious, mendacious and criminal white men. There was a revolt. It differed from the European situation in that the army of the federal government was used for the protection of the negro. The white men, aroused over the possibility of the establishment of permanent black rule, organized the Ku Klux Klan, the first example in the world of a Fascist, and with masked men and riders spread terror to the negro and corrupt carpet bagger population. This Ku Klux was as different also from the present order which has taken its name, as day is from night. Northern people were alarmed at this Invisible Empire. Later after it had been officially disbanded, groups of rough and hard-belled men assumed the mask and robbed and committed outrages in the name of the Klan bringing upon it anathema from its own former members.
Something of the same spirit has been aroused in Europe with the political time-servers in Italy where fed radicals and communists were fast obtaining a foothold in the government. The Fascist, led by Mussolini, has changed all that. In Spain, the military, aroused over the incapacity of the king and his weak and corrupt ministry, have taken over the government, ousted the politicians who have been stealing in the name of the people, and started reforms which have been thought impossible in the ignorant and Bourbon country of Spain.
And now, while Germany has not accepted the whole principle of the Fascist with its dictatorship, it has found it necessary to place plenary powers in the hands of one man that he may suspend, for the continuance of the government, those guarantees of liberty which are fundamentals of all free peoples. Germany has for five years openly invited economic destruction and the wobbly chancelleries of the last few months have brought about a condition bordering on anarchy by the deadly fear of those in power to bring the giant industrialists of the Stinnes type under governmental control. There has been a super-government of these men grown rich on the disturbed finances of Germany, wealthy by manipulation and at the expense of the poor and professional people who have been exploited.
The trouble in Europe according to the deductions of Mr. Cram are caused by failure to set around the politician certain limitations and devising a system of democracy which elevated the demagogue and the crook. We escaped that in America because our fathers made a constitution which gave the mass full opportunity but also provided a shock absorber in certain necessary formulas to be filled before there could be serious revolution of principles. Europe is reacting against the breed of proletariat which knows no law other than for selfish unrestraint. We have some of that spirit here, but we have a bulwark left and we shall stick to it—the constitution.

This man Gessler? Is he any relation to that other Gessler, the tyrant, who made William Tell?

Too Much Taxation.
When the tax bills of the several branches from as many representatives of the state government and the forces that won in the election of 1922, were presented to the legislature last winter and early summer, the conservative republicans asked some pertinent questions as to what was to be done with all the revenue derived from the various tax schemes.
It was plain that any of the bills would bring in more revenue than an economically administered state could use and an open invitation to extravagance. Bitter denunciation of those who opposed the governor's bill was the reward for the opposition. But when this same governor, in a statement to the public, tells the people that he will ask that more than a million dollars of the money piling up in the treasury, be turned back and the taxpayers be relieved, he is merely carrying out the prophesy of the conservative republicans. What would have been the result if all the schemes of the legislators had succeeded and we had increased the revenue?
There would have been just so much more to turn back somewhere, or to be spent in riotous living at Madison. Industry in Wisconsin was assailed by the legislature, every prosperous business was assaulted and no bill was for relief to any class of taxpayers in lessening the burden. If Mr. Blaine thinks his move will aid him he is failing to understand the public temper. What it does accomplish is to disclose the weakness of his own taxation plans and what a welcome escape the state had by the defeat of his bill as well as the others.

Primaries and National Delegates
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN
Washington.—The Republican National Committee has compiled a list of the states which will hold presidential primary elections next year, and the dates, which affords presidential candidates and their friends some interesting speculative material when taken in consideration with the proposed new apportionment of delegates to the National Convention.
In twenty states the voters will have an opportunity to go to the polls and register their choice of the candidates for the presidential nomination. In two of the states, however, this nomination will not concern republicans. The presidential primary laws in Florida and Texas do not apply to any party which polled less than 35 per cent of the total vote cast at the last preceding general election. This eliminates the republican party from the primaries in those states, leaving the delegates to be chosen under the convention system.
Eighteen states which do concern the republicans are California, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin.
Under the proposed new apportionment these states will have 603 out of the 1,036 delegates in the next Republican National Convention. This apportionment, which was prepared under the direction of National Chairman John T. Adams, will, it is believed, be approved by the National Committee and specified in the convention call which the committee will issue when it meets in Washington early in December.
It is to be noted that the primary-elected delegates will be within 10 votes of the majority of the convention which is required to nominate a candidate for president under republican rules and precedents. Should the National Committee reject Chairman Adams' recommendation and fall back upon the old apportionment, which provides for a convention of 984 delegates, the primary states will choose 473, or within 20 votes of a majority.
The new apportionment gives 44 additional delegates to northern and western states and takes 22 delegates away from five southern states, Georgia losing 3; Louisiana, 3; Mississippi, 5; South Carolina, 1; and Texas, 6.
It has been stated heretofore that the opening gun in the primary campaign would be fired in South Dakota on March 25, but the National Committee's list shows two primaries prior to that date—New Hampshire on March 21 and North Dakota on March 25. These three states have 34 delegates on March 25, 10 from New Hampshire and 12 from each of the Dakotas. Each of these states gain two delegates under the new allotment.
President Coolidge will doubtless have everything his own way in the first primary. New Hampshire is in his immediate home territory and Senator George F. Moses has declared for him, so it is unlikely that any other candidate will even be entered in the primary there. For this reason no special significance will attach to the result.
But it will be a different matter in the case of the Dakotas. Those states are open territory for any and all the republican presidential aspirants and if a real fight for the nomination should develop, the prestige of carrying one or both of those primaries will be something worth going after in deadly rivalry. In view of recent political developments and tendencies in the northwest none of the party leaders is so brash at this time as to attempt to predict what will happen, except that there should be contests in both states of the kind that makes party history.
In April, seven states will hold primaries, Wisconsin opening the fray on All Fool's Day, with 28 delegates to be chosen. Michigan follows on April 7, with 32 delegates; Illinois on April 8, with 60; Nebraska on April 15, with 18; New Jersey on April 22, with 40; and Massachusetts and Ohio on April 29, with 28 and 50, respectively.
These states have an aggregate of 356 delegates, slightly more than half of all to be chosen in primaries; and the importance of their contests is not to be over-emphasized.
Senator LaFollette may have a fight on his hands in capturing the delegation from his home state. Senator Lenroot, it is said, may make a bid for the delegates himself, or he may lead the fight for a Coolidge slate. However, in view of LaFollette's overwhelming victory in Wisconsin at the last election, it is a fairly safe prediction that he will not be displaced as a favorite son. Michigan, Nebraska and New Jersey will be open to all comers, but among the way party leaders are lining up an advantage for President Coolidge is indicated in the first two. Massachusetts assuredly will give the President a vigorous primary endorsement. Ohio is debatable ground, although some of the republican leaders there have given voice to the idea that if Coolidge carries out the Harding policies, the late President's state should back him up. Illinois' 60 votes will be a nice start for Frank O. Lowden, if the state remains true to its former governor.
Maryland will open the May primaries on the 5th, selecting 18 delegates, and California and Indiana will follow the next day with 28 and 32, respectively. Then will come Oregon on May 16, with 12; Pennsylvania on May 20, with 78; and Montana and West Virginia on May 27, with 10 and 18, respectively. These seven states have a total of 196 delegates.
California has at least one candidate, Senator Hiram Johnson, who is sometimes referred to as the "Primary Boon," and it is possible that Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover will enter the lists. Senator James E. Watson is more than willing to be the favorite son of the Hoosier state, but the situation is slightly complicated for him by reason of the fact that Postmaster General Harry S. New has gone on record as favoring the nomination of President Coolidge. Also, former Senator Albert J. Beveridge always looms up in the picture when Indiana republicans get ready for a battle royal. Pennsylvania, as is well known, has a governor who is straining his vision in an attempt to see from Harrisburg to Washington, but there is a rumor that Plimcham may get some Pepper in his eyes. Maryland, Oregon, Montana and West Virginia are states where the best vote-getters are the "Buckeye" boys. The last of the primaries will be held in North Carolina on June 7, to select 22 delegates. This will come on the very eve of the National Convention and can not have any effect on the results in other states. However, the block of delegates is well worth fighting for. Hiram Johnson had the unhappy experience in 1920 of carrying the North Carolina primary and then not receiving the delegation's vote in the convention. Candidates who enter the primary there in 1924 will want some kind of guarantee that a thing of that sort will not happen again.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST.
I DID NOT WEEP.
I did not weep to see him dead
Because upon his face
I saw a smile of glory spread;
A touch of Heavenly grace.
And though my form he could not see,
I fancied that he knew
That I was there, and spoke to me
The way he used to do.
I fancied that I heard him say,
Who battled long with pain:
"A miracle occurred today,
And I am well again!"
"I did not cough last night, and wake
From fever's restless sleep
To wait to see the morning break
And hear the wagons creep."
"And I am well and I am strong,
And glad am I today.
The burden I have borne so long
Has now been put away."
And, standing in that darkened place,
The smile of long ago
Which God had left upon his face
Told me 'twas better so.

Who's Who Today
COL. THEO. ROOSEVELT JR.
Is Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., about to take another step in his father's footsteps? According to recent rumors the young "Teddy" now assumes secretaryship of the navy department, a position that the elder Theodore held as secretary.
It was from the relative obscurity of the assistant secretaryship of the navy department that the elder Theodore rose to the top of the world. He was a man of the Spanish war. As a matter of fact, Theodore, the younger, started his political career with far greater renown than his father, for the former, true to his traditions, dropped his business connections almost the moment he was elected to the office of fighting Germany and went into training at Plattsburg. He emerged from the war a lieutenant colonel. Thus accelerated his political career and won a seat in the assembly in Albany. Roosevelt returned from France in command of the Twenty-Sixth Infantry. Not all his experience in France was gained in the line, however, for he spent considerable time in Chateau de Chantilly, France. He is 36 years old, a graduate of Harvard, a lawyer and possessed of many of the characteristics of his father. He was married to Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander of New York in 1919. They have three children.

ARE CORSETS MOLDS?
Will going without corsets, make a woman of notable height, make one larger?
And the answer is that it will not, except in the most depraved cases. Some women still use corsets to reduce waist measurements at all costs, and when they take off the torments they immediately become larger. So, as regards as they were before they put 'em on, or even larger.
We still have with us, in spite of our own wishes, a few mothers whose education below the neck has been sadly neglected and who have picked up the things they think they know from the casual remarks of friends and Mrs. Brown. "Told" and from the adroitly managed propaganda of the nostrum gentry and the quacks who prey upon feminine ignorance and credulity. These mothers are quite likely to believe that corsets are molds and that no girl can hope to have a good figure without them.
We still have among us, if not with us, a few dear old docs who know how to curvy favor with the credulous sex (and incidentally with the credulous interest) by coming out now and then flatfootedly if not very intelligently in behalf of corsets as molds. These wiles they lose nothing by the use of their support to the idea that the feminine form must be molded or held up by artificial supports or splints and they win the applause of the majority of the credulous.
Knocking the corset wearing evil is never a popular sport and never sets one anything on the contrary it is a some ways an expensive pastime. But I like it and I do it every little while because I'm a darn fool. It is good to me.
The average days when no nice girl ever indulged in anything like swimming, basketball, hiking, tennis or other active exercises, the corset seemed necessary to support the frail figure in tight laces and to restrain the ungainliness of the thirties. At present the young women who receive a fair general education, which includes the part of her body below the neck as well as mere mental training, finds that she can get along very comfortably without the aid of splints or braces of any kind and she not only keeps her good figure much longer than her mother was able to keep hers but she enjoys a degree of feminine health and womanly vigor which the credulous sex has never until now known. So the better educated women today are discarding corsets. They're parking them for keeps.
If a woman who does not neglect physical training needs no corset, does she need a substitute of any kind? Certainly not. She needs something to support her clothing—something very similar to a man's suspenders, with a substantial but loose and very tender and elastic support, with the suspenders, in short, as any woman will understand, the skeleton of a waist, which permits supporting the clothing from the shoulders and not from the hips.
The corset is not only a pernicious thing, particularly for the young woman, but it is a most uncomfortable garment for any woman who isn't either a made up flapper or a genuine frail.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
My feet sweat too much, especially between the toes, where the skin peels off and the toes become cracked and swollen and very tender and sore, and at night they itch a great deal. (M. E.)
Answer.—Grease the skin about the toes and the sole of the foot thoroughly once a day for four or five days with this ointment:
Salicylic acid..... One dram
Benzole acid..... Two drams
Potassium permanganate..... One ounce
Sugar and Sweet.
Should sugar and sweets containing it be entirely excluded from the diet of children until they are 8 years old? (D. W.)
Answer.—No. On the contrary, a liberal allowance of sugar and sweets should be given active children, but such food should be given at regular times as dessert or after meals, not at irregular times or between meals, for if the child is allowed to eat sugar, cake or candy when hungry, his appetite is too readily satisfied and he will not eat his meals properly. Sugar, when properly used, is easily digested, furnishes much heat or energy, and is quickly absorbed. It is a most valuable food for the active child. So the naturally busy, hard playing child should have plenty of sugar and sweets; the abnormal child who does little playing needs little sugar.
Sunburn and Windburn.
Can one get sunburned while in the water, the same as the water? (D. W.)
Answer.—Yes, the sun will burn if exposure is prolonged, even if the water is kept covered with water. "Windburn" is sunburn from prolonged exposure to diffuse sunlight.

Q. Is Alma Gluck, the singer, a native American? J. C. D.
A. Alma Gluck was born in Budapest, Hungary, but was brought to this country in 1882 and received all her education and training here.
Q. Who invented the telephone transmitter now used? D. W. L.
A. Emil Berliner is credited with its invention.
Q. Why can stars be seen from a well or mine shaft during the daytime? H. S. M. J.
A. Light is not visible during the day because the superior light of the sun and its reflected rays from objects on the earth is so strong as to obliterate the light from stars. As they make no impression on the retina of the eye. At the bottom of a shaft, or very tall chimney, where no light enters and the direct rays of sunlight are cut off, the retina registers the rays from the stars and hence they become visible.
Q. Why does David Belasco affect clerical attire? A. K. D.
A. This is explained in a monstrosity which is said to account for his predilection for such garments.
Q. How often does the Aurora Borealis appear and to what distance west can it be seen? L. H. H.
A. The frequency of the Aurora Borealis varies with the latitude of the place. It is comparatively rare in the latitude of the equator, but more frequent towards the north, up to the latitude of about 60 degrees where it sometimes becomes almost a nightly occurrence. The Aurora is less frequent near the poles.
Q. What is the meaning of "dies on parade" in Kipling's "Danny Deever"? A. H. D.
A. This term is applied to the common soldier. A couple of a front rank man and the man in the rear rank immediately behind him. Only private soldiers are sometimes ordered to stand and march in the ranks.
Q. Who originated the term "knockout" in prize fighting? D. C. A.
A. This term is said to have been coined by Billy Madden, Sullivan's trainer, on the occasion of Paddy Ryan's defeat by Sullivan Feb. 7, 1882, at Mississippi City.

WALTON PLACES ANOTHER COUNTY UNDER ARMY RULE
The Ku Klux Klan, are charged with having neglected to prosecute persons responsible for numerous mob outrages.
Will Tighten Grip.
Violence and bloodshed may result from the "deplorable conditions" existing in the county, the petitioners declared, in asking for the establishment of rigid martial law. The persons and property of those not members of the Ku Klux Klan, they asserted, are unsafe under the "reign of klan officers."
Early today, at the executive mansion, Governor Walton declared there will be no end to military rule in the state until mob violence and masked depredations cease.
"Martial law is being tightened instead of loosened," he said, in denouncing rumors that a modification of military regulations is in prospect.
Despite his statement, however, the belief persisted in well informed quarters that a decrease in the scope of martial law can be expected within the next few days.
Tension Is Lessened.
This opinion was strengthened by a perceptible lessening of public tension which has prevailed since legislative opposition first cropped out against the official acts of Governor Walton.
A legal fight to determine whether they are empowered to hold a special session without a call from the governor was started late yesterday by the sixty seven members of the lower house of the state legislature who attempt to "saw ah an' ink" the assembly. The battle has been peachment investigation was blocked by state troopers acting under orders from Governor Walton.
Enid, Okla. — Battery A, local detachment of the Oklahoma national guards, arrived in Enid at 6 a. m. from Oklahoma City, where the unit has been on duty since the state was placed under martial law by Governor Walton. TRUE friends are not to be purchased with money.
Happiness can not be bought; but there are many real things in life that money will help us get; some can not be obtained without it.
Money is not all-important, but it is often very important. The man who "Banks Something Regularly" will find that his Interest Account is a faithful friend when he wants some important thing that money will help him get.
WILL money help you get any of the things you want most?
This strong banking institution offers its services to help you get the money.
Safety, compound interest, friendly advice on money matters, a welcome to small deposits, these are a few of the reasons why this is an ideal place for you to build up your Interest Account, which will be "faithful to you" when you need it.

LATEST MARKET REPORT

GRAIN

Chicago Review.
 Chicago.—Confronted with new built estimates of the Canadian crop, wheat took a decided upturn during early dealings. The cash feature regarding Canadian production, credited to the Northwestern Grain Dealers' association, were 7,000,000 smaller than the Canadian government's latest returns. Continued notice of Washington's crop report, which counted likewise in favor of the bulls, and so did strength of corn and oats. The opening, which came from the same as Thursday's finish to 1/2¢ higher, with Dec. 1.05 1/2@1.05 3/4, and May 1.15 1/2@1.16 1/2, was followed by material gains all around.
 Subsequently, profit-taking sales led to price setbacks, which, however, were only transient. The close was firm, 3/4@1 1/2, not higher, with Dec. 1.05 1/2@1.05 3/4, and May 1.15 1/2@1.16 1/2.
 Corn opened with September delivery touching a new high for the season. The weather was an incentive to buy. After opening unchanged to 1/2¢ up, Dec. 72 1/2@72 3/4, prices scored a general upturn and then reacted somewhat.
 It was estimated that farm reserves fell were the smallest in twenty years with one exception. The close was firm, 3/4@1 1/2, not higher, Dec. 72 1/2@72 3/4, and May 1.15 1/2@1.16 1/2.
 Oats: 30¢ short covering, oats started unchanged to 1/2¢ higher, Dec. 42 1/2@42 3/4, and later showing a general advance.
 Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to the market.

Milwaukee

CITY READY FOR MILWAUKEEANS

Will Be Met at City Limits by
H. S. Band—Dinner and Dance in Evening.

Through plans completed by the Chamber of Commerce, the past week, Janesville is ready to provide several hours of entertainment Saturday night for the 150 members of the Milwaukee Junior Association of Commerce who are expected to reach here at 5:15 p. m. Saturday on their week-end booster tour of Southern Wisconsin. A tour of the city and a dinner-dance at the Chevrolet club house are planned.

Will Be Met by Band.
A delegation of members of the local Chamber of Commerce, other citizens and the high school band will meet the Milwaukee tourists at the city limits on Route 20 as they arrive from Waukegan. The band will head the line of cars for the drive up South Main street and through the business district. The visitors will then be taken on a half-hour tour to see the various points of interest in the city.

Dance Will Follow.
Sixty-five local girls have been invited to be among the guests at the dance in the clubhouse following the banquet. During the dinner, talks will be given by the Milwaukee men and the following Janesville people: L. L. Stewart, manager of the local Chevrolet plant; L. P. Bennett, manager of the H. W. Gossard factory; Oscar N. Nelson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; and City Manager Henry Traxler.

The Junior Association of Commerce of Milwaukee is composed of young business and professional men up to the age of 35 years. They will remain here over night and leave at 8:30 a. m. Sunday for cities north of Janesville.

HARTIN'S PLEA IS FILED WITH BLAINE
The formal pardon application of Fred Hartin, convicted murderer serving a life sentence in Waupun for the Krause murder here in 1916, was scheduled to be presented to Governor John J. Blaine Friday by his attorneys, a Waupun firm. It is not known when it will be acted upon. Judge George Grimm, who sentenced Hartin, has declined to make any recommendation to the governor on the application.

FOOTBALL BOOSTER MEETING IS HELD
A mass meeting was held to work up enthusiasm for the first football game of the season in the high school assembly Friday morning. The bands played the same numbers that won them second place at the tournament in Edgerton Wednesday. Donald Flaherty presided.

Judgment for $200—Oscar J. Dietz was awarded judgment by Judge H. L. Maxfield in municipal court here Friday against A. N. Schifert for $222.25 and costs on a note. E. D. McGowan represented the plaintiff and judgment was entered by default.

IN S. A. CAMPAIGN

Work in Residence District Nears Completion; $1,020 Is Reported.

The canvass of the residence district in behalf of the Salvation Army drive is nearing completion, according to reports made by women majorors at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce at 3:30 Thursday. Donations reported by women totalled $1,020, with a number of canvassers to be heard from. None of the men's teams have completed their work, and some districts have not been touched as yet. The total reported by the men is $614. This does not include any special gifts, as no reports have been made on these or on results of the canvass among employees of different industries.

The Athena class voted a donation of $10 at their meeting Thursday afternoon. Women majorors also directed the residence district canvass were Mesdames Burr Tolles, H. H. Green, A. L. White, E. L. Myers, C. A. Sanborn, and Sarah Coleman.

The drive will end Tuesday if the quota of $5,000 is reached by that time.

"SINCLAIR LEWIS' CELEBRATED NOVEL"

MAIN STREET WITH
FLORENCE VIDOR and MONTE BLUE
AND A STELLAR CAST OF SCREEN FAVORITES
Directed by HARRY BEAUMONT

In "Main Street" you will find all the typical characters of this great American town faithfully brought to life and woven into a screen masterpiece that will thrill, entertain and surprise you.

Far from the maddening throngs of big cities, reposing peacefully in the heart of our country, lie our Main Streets, rich with fascinating types.

Sinclair Lewis wrote of one of them in his "Main Street," the most talked of novel of the age, discussed heatedly pro and con by every periodical and newspaper in the country. It is a story rich with the heart stuff that captures interest and makes one lose oneself in the throbbing drama unfolded.

Law Requires Clear Crossings
Property owners and railroad companies alike are affected by the state law which requires a 300-foot clearance of trees and shrubs in all four directions from a grade crossing.

Supt. J. A. MacDonald, Madison, declared in speaking at a "Safety First" meeting of St. Paul railroad employees in a coach near the depot here Thursday night. He said the law is not being observed generally, but advocated its enforcement as one means of reducing the number of accidents.

The safety meeting was one of a series being held in Janesville and other cities on the St. Paul line.

Mr. MacDonald's chief clerk, F. W. Liegeois, Madison, also spoke.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Gazette telephone rang Thursday night and a worried voice said:

"I have looked through the telephone book and the city and county directory and do not find anybody by the name of Dogberry who, according to the 'H. D. G.' in tonight's paper, was giving instructions to the night watchman. Have we a new chief of police?"

The worried person was relieved by telling her that the Dogberry mentioned was one of the characters immortalized by the late William Shakespeare in "Much Ado About Nothing," and it was dug up for the occasion as being fitting, by the Janesville county person who wrote the letter to the Voice of the People.—Editor Gazette.

Editor Gazette:
Regarding the flash system of pasteurizing milk, will you say it is not the proper way to pasteurize milk. When the milk is heated up to 155 degrees the milk loses the biggest part of its milk flavor and begins to taste burned. Besides this, the milk is hard for infants to digest, as the bacteria is hardened from the high temperature.

The flash system never pasteurizes correct unless an expert man stands by the flash pasteurizing machine all the time during the pasteurization and watches the supply of milk and steam.

For instance, if the steam is not sufficient to heat the milk to 155 degrees evenly and as fast as it is fed through the machine, then the milk is not pasteurized enough. Again, if you feed too much steam to the machine for the supply of milk, this milk is heated more than 165 degrees and endangers the good flavor of the milk. Hardens the milk and is not the proper milk for infants to drink. Also for the dealers, it kills the visible cream line to some extent.

But the holding system of pasteurization is to heat the milk to 145 degrees to kill the bacteria and hold it there 30 minutes before cooling. This will insure that all the bacteria is destroyed and it will not harden the milk as when the milk is heated to 155 degrees, and the natural flavor of the milk will remain. This milk when bottled will show a higher cream line.

The milk distributors of Janesville should favor this holding system of pasteurization for various reasons, one of which is the public will like the low pasteurized milk better than the high pasteurized milk, and eventually it will increase the sales.

On the face of the proposition of converting the flash system of pasteurization to the holding system, it means an investment of $10,000 for pasteurizers and recorders on the part of the dealer, but in reality the holding system is money saving proposition for the dealer. In using the flash system the dealer has from 3 to 4 per cent shrinkage, as the milk evaporates more at higher temperature, but with the holding system and the lower pasteurization the dealer has only from 1 to 2 per cent shrinkage, and this means for the dealer pasteurizing 10,000 pounds of milk daily. At the present price of milk he will save in a year's time about $5,000. Besides, he will provide milk that will comply with the health departments' requirements of other cities, and which sooner or later will be adopted and enforced by the city of Janesville.

Regarding the certified milk which comes from tested herds, wish to say if it is certified with the full meaning of the word it should be all right, but if the certified milk is handled in surroundings other than sanitary and handled in unsterilized utensils, this milk is dangerous for the public consumption. The city should issue a permit to dairies to sell certified milk from tested herds, but not until a strict inspection is made and all the sanitary requirements are complied with.

A few months ago a large dairy was compelled by the city of Chicago to pasteurize the milk it shipped to that city and sold as certified milk from tested herds. PETER BAY.

DELANAN MOTHER
HEARS FROM SON
IN JAPAN QUAKE

Though ninety miles from the worst of the earthquake the Rev. Henry Topping, formerly of Delavan and foreign pastor of the First Baptist Church of Delavan, writes to his mother in Delavan that the earthquake was felt in his section as the most severe on record. Mr. Topping's letter came to Delavan Thursday to his mother, Mrs. Mary Topping and follows:

Karuzawa, Japan, Sept. 28, 1923.

Dear Mother:
I called you on the 6th that we were safe. In fact all of our mission are safe with the possible exception of Miss Carpenter who was seen leaving her home after the earthquake and fire had destroyed it. We are searching for her anxiously.

But our mission buildings have suffered seriously, especially in Yokohama. The three institutions with which I was connected are wiped out. The earthquake and the fire, caused by a typhoon (wind storm) left Yokohama a mass of smoking ruins. Our girls school is in Kanagawa, a suburb of Yokohama and outside of the fire zone so still stands, but not safe to live in at present.

In Tokio our most valuable new buildings survived the shock but several of our families are homeless and the Swinga Dai home of our single women is gone. Ishihara Sun's Kindergarten Training School is safe and we hope she is also but have not heard. She was away at the sea side. Our spiritual sons, Yasumura and Sakata are safe but their school, the Mable Memorial, is gone.

This earthquake was most severe near Yokohama. We felt it here, 90 miles away, as the most severe we had ever felt. The remotest waves from it extended perhaps 200 miles. No damage was done here, except to half a dozen chimneys. Our house was not injured. It is being used this summer as a hospital. The rotted collar in which we live was not injured. But our Yokohama home and winter clothes, bedding, books, all gone.

Thirty-five of our Baptist mission are here. We would all go to Yokohama and Tokyo to help in relief work but are not allowed to do so. It is not safe to travel or even to live in these cities. Everyone who goes must take his own food. Trains from Tokyo are crowded to suffocation with wounded, sick and broken hearted creatures. We give out food and water here to all that will take it as their trains pass.

Our work in Japan? We hardly know what to think. Sometimes we think we'd better go to America to help raise money for Japan. Four of our Yokohama families are homeless. The girls school and five teachers are homeless. In Tokyo fourteen of our missionaries are homeless. But we are thankful that none have lost their lives!

THE Wadham's Sign is your warranty deed of genuine "straight-run" real gasoline—as distinguished from the doped-up, by-product, near-gasolines of common commerce.

It is the Sign of Motor Health. It beckons you along the path of real, long-run economy. On filling stations, on garages, on the establishments of responsible dealer's, it reminds you again and again of the underlying reasons for the downright superiority of

Wadham's
True Gasoline

It says: "No rank adulterants—for Wadham's is refined from the true gasoline range of the parent petroleum, without blending, doping, or 'cracking'."

It says: "Safe lubrication—for True Gasoline contains no kerosene adulterant to drip down cylinder walls, sluicing away the lubricating oil on the way down and diluting the lubricant in the crankcase to the danger point—and beyond."

It says: "Less carbon trouble—for True Gasoline contains no free carbon. Every drop has exactly the proportion of hydrogen to consume every particle of its carbon—instantaneously."

It says: "Economy—now and in the future—for True Gasoline delivers smoother running, greater mileage, and helps keep your car away from the repair shops."
